CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 160 pages. Dimensions: 8.0in. x 5.0in. x 0.4in. A collection of Western short stories that go beyond the standard action and adventure of the genre to focus on character and conflict. In the award-winning Disturbing the Peace, honorable mention in the 2010 Rope and Wire short story competition, a sheriff experiences a revelation about himself and his relationship with the people of his town, while in The Outlaws Wife, a country doctor worries that his young friend is falling for a married woman whose husband is rumored to be a wanted criminal. From the suspenseful Cross My Heart to the comedic romp of A Rangeland Renaissance, to a Western twist on star-crossed romance in the title story, The Ranch Next Door, these stories will appeal to a variety of readers, as well as established fans of the traditional Western. Praise for The Ranch Next Door and Other Stories: Descriptions of both people and settings are superbly done and dialogue is believable. I can honestly say there isn't a weak story to be found here. . . I believe that all western fans will find something to enjoy in this collection. - Western Fiction Review Foley has a firm, intelligent grasp on the storytelling style she brings to her subject matter. The tone and mastery of language is consistent throughout. After a couple stories, you just know you're in competent hands. - Ron Scheer, author of How the West Was Written Well written, genre busting stories. . . focusing on family tensions, and on character rather than on out and out action. . . brilliantly comic descriptions. - Bookstackreviews. com On Disturbing the Peace: This is an extremely well-written, engrossing character study of the main protagonist. . . it starts...
