Thomas, Jr., Of Maryland, on Reconstruction: Delivered in the House of Representatives, April 21, 1866 The House, as in Committee of the Whole on the state of tho Union, having under consideration the President s annual message - Mr. J. L.Thomas said: Mr. Speaker: The great question of reconstruction and the collateral issues properly belonging to it have been agitating this country in some form or another since the first session of the Thirty-Eighth Congress. The rebellion which has been so gloriously crushed out has devolved upon us the solemn duty of dealing with its results in such a manner as that a permanent peace shall be secured and a lasting adjustment of all the irritating causes that produced it, shall be forever put at rest. I, for one, have made up my mind what course I shall pursue, and with malice toward none, with charity for all, with determination to do the right as God giveth me to see the right - to advocate and support such principles as...
